Battlefield Breakaways - Unique insights into the South African War and other lessons

Kedar Heritage Lodge, in association with Battlefield Management & Leadership Solutions (BMLS), proudly presents Battlefield Breakaways - a unique and fascinating approach to team-building and leadership development based on selected battles that took place during the South African War (1899-1902).

Kedar is at the epicentre of what is referred to as the "guerrilla phase" of the South African War, much of which was fought amidst the spectacularly picturesque and historic Magaliesberg Mountains.

The lodge is the ideal base from which to experience a BMLS Battlefield Breakaway, which is an exhilarating and motivational management team and group development programme that draws on this fascinating and unique phase of the South African War.

Selected historic battles are used as case studies for highly participative war-gaming exercises, conducted either on the actual field of battle, or presented in the cloistered calm of the magnificent Campaign Room at Kedar Lodge.

Included as an optional service in the overall Battlefield Breakaway programme is a free Business Strategy Review survey that is conducted among members of a management team attending the event. The results of the survey are presented during the course of the programme to add enormous business value to a corporate breakaway.
